The successful trading strategy enabled the company to raise core assets to enter a number of financial markets that were previously inaccessible. However, the stock management decided on the softest investment climate in the market in order to attract significant investment capital and trade on the exchanges. There is acceptable financial legislation and a simplified tax scheme that protects against non-commercial risks. Most traders are highly professional and possess the necessary skills for safe financial activity.

- ❑ Trading refers to the buying and selling of financial assets, such as stocks, bonds, commodities, and currencies, with the aim of making a profit. Trading can be done through various platforms, including online brokerage firms, exchanges, and over-the-counter markets.
- ❑ Traders use various tools and techniques to analyze the markets and make trading decisions. Technical analysis involves analyzing charts and using indicators to identify trends and patterns in the market. Fundamental analysis involves analyzing economic and financial data to evaluate the underlying value of a security.
